CUSTOM OFFICE LAWS, IMPORTANT MATTERS CONCERNING IMPORT APPRAISMENTS.

The Apache Indians to be Removed, Frab's, from Arizona--Steps Avoiding Frigates--Appointment Spigot Dry--Bret Harle--News Notes.

WASHINGTON, July 6.--The secretary of the treasury has issued a circular to customs officers, informing them that all charges previously required to be added to the market value of imported merchandise estimating dutiable value were abrogated by the act of March 3d, 1883, and that such charges can no longer be collected by customs officers as factors in the ascertainment and assessment of duties.

Customs officers are expressly cautioned against the use of the term "charges" in their returns of dutiable value. The actual foreign market value must be ascertained, and whatever mode of importation or calculation is pursued in such ascertainment, it must be made to clearly appear that "charges" as such, are not included as an element.

The circular also states that it is the sole province of the appraising officers to ascertain such "actual market value" or wholesale price of imported merchandise in the foreign markets, and that importers who may feel aggrieved or dissatisfied with the action from whatever cause, have a speedy and efficacious remedy by appeal to reappraisers. The department can not pass upon cases where importers avail themselves of this remedy, for under the law the question of dutiable value is a question of fact which can only be determined by the appraising officers of the government.

Removing Apaches. WASHINGTON, July 6.--Mr. G. G. Adams, of Tombstone, Arizona, representing the citizens of Cochise county, in which county Tombstone is located, called on President Cleveland, and in behalf of the residents of his and adjoining counties, urged the removal of the Apache Indians from the San Carlos reservation to a reservation somewhere in the western part of the Indian Territory.

Mr. Adams told the president that this is the only way to prevent a repetition of the biennial outbreaks of the Apaches. Their reservation is located in the desert and several miles from the Mexican border and the Sierra Madre mountains. The pathway to these mountains lies through Graham and Cochise counties, and the people of these counties are the principal sufferers from the raids of these rascals.

If removed to the Indian Territory, surrounded by civilized population, and removed from mountain ranges, our troops could easily intercept them should they go on their war path. The president assured Mr. Adams that the matter would receive prompt attention.

Avoiding Frigates. WASHINGTON, July 6.--The president has determined to establish, by means of the vessels of the revenue marine a National patrol of the coast, so far as practicable, while consistent with the permanent duties of the coast guard, to that service, to assist local authorities in maintaining a quarantine against the introduction of contagious diseases. Secretary Manning has issued the necessary instructions directing commander of revenue steamers to exercise, special vigilance in speaking, all vessels arriving from foreign and southern ports, and to inspect and quarantine any found with contagious or infectious diseases on board, or that have left ports where such disease were prevailing.

The Keg Is Dry. WASHINGTON, July 6.--It is given out of good authority that the important appointments are to be made until October and that the president proposes to take rest from August 1 to the middle of September.

It is intimated here that Bret Harle's days are numbered as United States consul at Glasgow. Mr. Harle has high hopes of being returned, and the length of time he has been allowed to remain has strengthened this hope. Much has been said of his behavior in his behalf, but his recall has been decided upon.

Too Far Ahead. PORTLAND, Me., July 6.--The Daily Express says: "It is understood that Hon. James Weeks, treasurer of the Republican National committee, while at Old Orchard Lake, said that in his judgment Mr. Blaine will never again be the Republican candidate for president, but will control it nominations, and in the face of Blaine's opposition to Logan, he will not accept the nomination in 1888. Mr. Weeks would not object to Mr. Logan as a candidate, but cannot see that he could succeed under the circumstances."

Hart Works. BOSTON, July 6.--A Washington special to the Record says that the Texas friends of First Auditor Chiswell say that after the way in which that official has been set down by Secretary Manning his only proper course is to discharge Keller, and then resign his own position. If he does this, he can have anything in his state, and make himself the most popular man in the south, but if he remains in office, he should never show his face in Texas again.

The Reason Why. BOSTON, July 6.--A Washington special to the Traveller says that it has transpired that one Roginski, a Hebrew relative of Mrs. Kelley, and who has fought Mr. Kelley's political ambitions for years, started the trouble in Vienna, having gone there for that purpose. The dispatch adds that the present minister, Francis, is working with Roginski to present the recognition of Mr. Kelley, and that it will cost $1,000 per month to Francis to remain in office.

Regarding Cattle. WASHINGTON, July 6.--Secretary Lamar has recently received several complaints that the authorities in the Indian Territory have prevented cattle from Texas from being driven across what is known as the Cherokee strip. He has telegraphed that the right of cattle men to drive cattle across the strip on established trails is unquestioned, and shall not be denied them.

DR. SANDS IS SENT FOR.

ANOTHER DAY OF ANXIETY SPENT ON MOUNT MCGREGOR.

General Grant Attempts to Appear Unusually Well and Overtakes His Strength. Some Writing--In the Sick Room. A Ride--No Sleep--Notes.

Mr. McGREGOR, N. Y., July 6.--Gen. Grant failed to fall asleep readily in spite of great weariness. It was about 10:30, nearly three hours after retiring, when sleep came. A message was sent summoning Dr. Sands, who replied that he would leave New York immediately. Jesse Grant and Senator Rogers have arrived. The fourth of July is the birthday of Mrs. Sartoris and of Col. Grant's son, as well as the anniversary of Vicksburg.

Gen. Grant awoke within an hour after he first fell asleep. The indications at midnight pointed to a redoubtable and active number of the morning had been forced for appearance sake. He wanted the family to think he was much improved. The efforts succeeded beyond his expectations and in their happiness their attentions to him were so profuse that about noon, unable longer to keep up appearances, he went to his room. In response to inquiry made of him there he wrote on his pad that the night had been a good one and he supposed had been given out in the morning statements from the cottage, but was very weak and that he felt the need of lying down for rest.

A little later the general wrote and wrote a reply to the letter he received from an ex-Confederate soldier. The desire to be down and rest was still strong upon him and he felt that he could not otherwise get relief. Going to a cot he stretched himself upon it and was soon asleep. The family had been much concerned over his note, stating his condition. They were long after midnight and a violent attack of coughing that came as the penalty of his lying down.

The general realized how they felt, and as soon as the coughing stopped, he put on his hat and walking down from the porch, stepped into the bath invalid chair. He took the hall top and entered the room, greatly alleviated the anxiety at the cottage. The rest of the afternoon he divided between the porch and his room. Although he suffered no special pain, so tired was he at evening, that he was prepared for the night before 8 o'clock.

KILLED A DUMB MAN FOR MONEY. A Farmer of Missouri Shot on the Road by a Chance Acquaintance Who Escapes.

St. Louis, July 6.--The murder of a dumb man for the sake of $400, which he possessed, has just been committed by the discovery of the mutilated body of D. B. Anderson, near Pineville, Mo. Anderson had arrived at Levee for ten years, and was married and had some property. Last year he took a wagon trip through Illinois, working for farmers and railroads as he went along, and this year he started out again with four horses and a wagon, telling his wife he was going to work on the railroad near Brownstown.

He became acquainted on the road with a man named Grubb, and they went on to St. Louis. At Erie Anderson went on a state in answer to inquiries that he was going to Europa Springs. That night he and Grubb camped at Harmon Hollow, six miles north of Pineville. A neighbor heard three shots in the night, but there was no trace of violence or foul play next day.

When Anderson's body was found and identified his trail they learned that Grubb had driven sixty miles from the place where the shots were heard, with the body in the wagon before dumping it out. Grubb had then cut loose all but one horse on which he rode away and left the last three shots in his head indicated how he died. He leaves a widow and four children with little means of support, but the horse and wagon were returned to them. There was blood on the wagon box and blanket.

CLEVELAND STRIKE.

Marching, Threatening and Intimidating, but "No Graveyard for the Dead." CLEVELAND, July 6.--About 3,000 strikers held a meeting and did a good deal of marching, threatening and intimidating, but no violence was committed or injuries inflicted. Threats are freely made by the Poles and Bohemians that they will burn all the rolling mill property, and that everything bearing the name of Chisholm must be destroyed.

It was also reported that the strikers had determined to march to the residence of Henry B. Payne and J. A. Vance and demand satisfaction of them; but as there has been more talk than bloodshed "a graveyard for their dead" has not yet been provided.

A large and noisy meeting was held, attended by 1,500 persons. Incendiary harangues were made in German and Polish. The American and English consuls mollated, but are hooded down by the reckless element. The president of the American association was expected to address the meeting, but did not appear. The police are on the alert, and no rioting is apprehended. The crowds dispersed and all is quiet.

A War Ended. READING, Pa., July 6.--The railroad war between the Philadelphia and Reading and the Philadelphia and Schuylkill railway companies, has been brought to an end. Acting upon orders from Philadelphia, the Reading officials quickly removed the seven engines which have impeded the work of the new company, and the hands of the latter company at once took possession and went on with track laying.

Sentenced to be Hanged. NEW YORK, July 6.--John Carpenter was sentenced to be hanged August 21 next by Judge Barrett in the court of Oyer and Terminer.

MINNIE RUNS AWAY AGAIN.

New York, July 6.--John D. Fiske, the Philadelphia lawyer, who lives in White Plains, last January Minnie Fiske Newman ran away from home and joined him in Philadelphia. About two weeks ago Mrs. Newman took her daughter home. Fiske and Minnie appeared at the White Plains depot in a close carriage bound for this city. Fiske went to White Plains and Minnie threatened to sue Mrs. Newman for the value of the jewelry which he had bestowed upon her. The daughter refused to sign an interview with Minnie. The sequel is that she went to White Plains and appeared in front of the Newman residence with a close carriage. Minnie ran down the walk to the carriage, was helped in by Fiske and they came to the city. It was reported that she had been secretly married in the previous evening, but Mrs. Newman said she could tell nothing about it.

SWINDLED ON A CROP REPORT.

BURLINGTON, Iowa, July 6.--Farmers in Dickinson and other northern counties in the state are being extensively swindled by a sharper who, representing himself to be connected with some Chicago provision house, circulates false reports among the farmers asking their opinion as to the probable crop this season. Carefully noting down the answer he asks the farmer to sign the paper, just to give the report an appearance of being correct, and in nine cases out of ten he takes out a good sized note, which they have signed and which gets into the hands of an innocent purchaser and must be paid. Among those swindled are Oscar Johnson, Henry Mayne and Fred Biech. Each of these men were caught for one hundred and fifty to four hundred dollars. It is estimated that the sharper has secured two or three thousand dollars.

DOWN THE SHAFT TO DEATH.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 6.--Joseph Barbour, of New Haven, entered the Bridgeport box company's building looking for employment. He was directed to the second floor. Instead of turning to the right of the door he turned to the left, opening the door of the elevator. He saw a mistake too late, and with a shriek fell to the bottom of the shaft. He died in thirty minutes. Barbour had had several narrow escapes during his life, one of which was at a fire in a burning building for some time before he was rescued.

FROM A VOYAGE AROUND THE WORLD.

New York, July 6.--The yacht Amy came to anchor in the East River, after finishing a pleasant trip around the globe. It was the first time since the late Governor Morgan, a son of the late Governor Morgan, chartered the yacht and set sail. There were on board besides Mr. Morgan, Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. Ferdinand Yznaga and Miss Yznaga, a sister-in-law of Mr. William Y. Vanderbilt, and Miss Emily Yznaga, younger sister of the Viscountess of Mandeville. The party circumnavigated the globe via the Suez canal, the Indian ocean and Cape Horn.

FACETIOUS SCOOTING.

BOWIE, Tex., July 6.--A difficulty occurred here between James E. and J. S. Irvine on one side and J. W. Kerr, of this city, on the other, which resulted in the shooting of Kerr twice. One shot entered in the right side of the abdomen, ranging around to the back, and the other entering the lower part of the abdomen, ranging down into the right hip. The wounded man may possibly recover though the chances are against him. J. S. Irvine is under arrest. His brother, T. E. Irvine has not been arrested.

RAIL RUMBLINGS.

The Hopes of Restoration of Rates and Harmony.

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.--In spite of reported conferences between the Pennsylvania and the New York Central railroad interests, relative to the abandonment by the latter of the South Pennsylvania railroad, which is the proposed connecting link between the Reading and New Jersey Central and the west, it is officially stated here that work on the projected line is being pushed forward with all possible speed. There is every prospect that the June earnings of the Pennsylvania railroad company will not show so large a decrease as did those of May, by at least $100,000.

An officer of that company said that the earnings for the first three weeks in June were only about one hundred and thirty-five thousand dollars below those of the same period last year. Taking this as a basis the earnings for the four weeks will probably show a loss of one hundred and eighty thousand dollars from the June earnings of 1884. Referring to the prospect for improvement in the Transatlantic line, this gentleman said he believed the 1st of September would see a restoration of harmony and of credit.

IT WAS A NOVEL WAY BUT FATAL.

William Keyes' Terrible Death While Attempting to Pay a Visit.

New York, July 6.--William Keyes and Frank Loughlin had been drinking together and both were feeling the effects of their libations.

They then decided to pay a visit to a woman who lives on the fifth story of No. 149 West Fourth street. They found the door locked, and after knocking with the premises, ascended to the roof.

"I know how to wake her up," said Keyes, and, taking a clothes-line from one of the poles on the roof, he secured it to an iron fire-escape that spanned the house and the one in the rear, and commenced the perilous descent to the window.

Reaching it his horrified companion in the drunken froak saw him miss his footing and the next instant his body was seen plunging through the air to the pavement beneath. The man was instantly killed. Loughlin was arrested, and after being taken to Jefferson Market police court, was remanded for the action of the coroner. Later he appeared before Coroner Kennedy, and no evidence being produced of any criminal action on his part he was released.

LIFE TOO BURDENOME.

The Right That Shocked a German Mechanic Who on Saturday Morning Died.

New York, July 6.--"Mein liebe Gott, Heinrich has languished himself" with a heartrending scream Mrs. Hansen, of No. 51 Eldridge street, told in a swoon before the astonished neighbors who had been attracted by her cries.

Heinrich Hansen, an industrious mechanic, has been for some time the victim of erysipals. His wife went out to a neighboring drugstore to get something to allay his agonies. She was there but a short time when a first object that confronted her on her return was the body of her husband hanging from the ceiling in their bedroom.

When assistance arrived the body, yet warm, but totally lifeless, was taken down and the corpse notified.

ALL IS QUIET.

The Chicago Strike Assumes a Serene Outside Appearance.

CHICAGO, July 6.--The large force of police was doing duty on the line of the west division city railway was ordered in at 6 o'clock. The last trip was made at 6 o'clock, when the cars carried one but policemen and other non-paying passengers. It was agreed at a conference between the mayor and the railway officials that no attempt would be made to start cars for forty-eight hours.

The mayor was averse to placing the entire police force at the disposal of the railway company when so many lives people will be on the streets and at a time when the presence of police will be required over the entire city. The city was quiet.

DAYLIGHT DISCOVERIES.

A Negro Ravisher Found Silent and Justly Choked to Death.

WADSWORTH, Conn., July 6.--Daylight revealed the body of John Bogan, the negro who two weeks ago outraged Mrs. Bruner. His body was swinging from a scythe in a tree within fifty yards of the court house. Bogan was captured at his mother's home, concealed in a potato hole in the garden. A proposition was made to take him before Mrs. Bruner, but he said he did not want to go, as he committed the deed and did not expect mercy.

He was at once strung up to a tree, and afterwards his body was brought to town and hung up near the court house, with a rifle ball in his back. Bogan made a full confession, giving details of the outrage.

DIDN'T WANT HIS BOY TO SWIM.

WATERBURY, Conn., July 6.--Patrick Mooney, to prevent his nine-year-old son from going swimming with a scythe, was worried, tied the lad by the arms and legs. The boy slipped out of the ropes and again went swimming. His father leaped to his feet and the next time he tied the ropes tighter and then fastened them to a clothes-pole, leaving the boy dangling in the air. He was rescued by his mother and neighbors. The father will be prosecuted.

SUPPOSED DEAD MAN FOUND AT WORK.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 6.--The body of a man was found in a room under a tree in East Bridgeport by George Smith. A bullet hole in the right temple and a revolver partly under the body indicated suicide. The body was viewed by fifty persons, among whom was one Donnelly, who recognized the remains as his brother Charles, but Charles was found later at work at his trade. The body is still unrecognized.

THREE KILLED.

WINTHROP, Mass., July 6.--The Boston, Lynn & Revere Beach express ran over a beach wagon, killing three of its occupants, Paul J. and Fred Olander, father and son, and Los Mallon, Paul's nephew. Clara Olander, who sat with them was injured, probably fatally.

COUNTY POINTS.

Tolleboro.
At Tolleboro, a few days ago John Scott, a very respectable citizen, was placed under the arrest of Alex. Comb, a negro for using abusive language. Comb was taken to jail, but came up for trial, Dr. Bowman, counsel for the "cream colored niggers" objected to the jury because it was composed wholly of white men and the magistrate, R. B. Pollitt ruled that six of the jurors should vacate their place and six "nigger gentlemen" be summoned in their stead. It is needless to say that the case was compromised.

Germantown.
Germantown was well represented on the occasion of the celebration of August, was here a few days last week.

HARRIED.
At the County Clerk's office, July 6, 1886, by Judge W. P. Coons, Miss MARY J. O'CONNOR, of Brown County, Ohio, to Mr. HARRY M. BRADFIELD, of this county. Crown County papers please copy.

DIED.
In this city, July 3, 1886, HUGH POSTER, infant son of H. C. and CARRIE POSTER, JR.

CHICAGO HARRIED.
FURNISHED BY W. A. NORTON.
August wheat, 80, 80 1/2, 80 3/4; corn, 47 1/2; pork, 10 1/2.
September wheat, 80, 80 1/2, 80 3/4; corn, 47 1/2; pork, 10 1/2.
Receipt of wheat, 15,000, 5 cents higher.

Just as Good.
Many unscrupulous dealers may tell you they have remedies for coughs and colds, equal in merit and every respect just as good as the old and reliable Dr. Rossen's Cough and Lung Syrup, and unless you insist upon this remedy and will take no other, you are liable to be greatly deceived. Price 50 cents and $1. Sold by George T. Wood, druggist.

Cure for Piles.
Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose that he is suffering from rheumatism or some other ailment. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, as flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A molar, like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, and getting warm, is a common attendance. Blind, bleeding and itching piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Rossen's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the blood, allaying the intense itching, and affecting a permanent cure. Price, 50 cents. Sold by Geo. T. Wood, druggist.

AUSTRIA AND HUNGARY

TERRIFIC THUNDERSTORMS DEVASTATING THE COUNTRY.

Horrible Holoocausts and Many Homeless.
Fearful Floods—Eight Killed by Lightning—Many Wounded—Not Hostile—Treaty—Foreign News.

VIENNA, July 6.—Terrible thunderstorms continue throughout Austria and Hungary. A fire caused by lightning in the town of Horodenska, Galicia, destroyed 600 houses and rendered homeless 5,000 persons. Many people were unable to escape the flames and were burned in their houses. The town of Zechowitz, in Bohemia, has been partially destroyed by floods. At Vianitz, in Galicia, eight persons were killed by lightning, and 10,000 trees were uprooted, and the corn crop in that vicinity has been entirely destroyed. At "Csoska," in Hungary, lightning struck a church filled with worshippers, two of whom were killed and 22 injured.

Not Hostile But Mutilated.
 ROME, July 6.—It is understood that the pope wishes that the appointment of Dr. Walsh as archbishop of Dublin shall not be considered as an act in any wise hostile to England, notwithstanding that Dr. Walsh is a pronounced Nationalist, and that his appointment was opposed by the Irish Tories.

Treaty Renewal.
 VIENNA, July 6.—The negotiations for the renewal of the ten years' treaty of union between the Austrian and Hungarian parts of the empire will begin next Tuesday at Vienna. Count Tuma, president of the Hungarian ministry, and the Hungarian ministers of finance and commerce will represent the Trans-Leithan part of the empire.

Cotton Worm.
 CAIRO, July 6.—The ravages of the cotton worm are extending throughout Egypt. A great alarm is felt that the crops will be entirely destroyed. The officials have vainly sought for means of checking its advance, but have not thus far been successful.

Egypt Embarkment.
 VIENNA, July 6.—The political Gazette says that England has authorized Egypt to postpone the payment of interest on Suez share and other sums in order to provide for the payment of the June salaries pending a financial settlement.

Negative Votes.
 BERLIN, July 6.—The Federal council has decided that the Duke of Cumberland is not entitled to succeed to the regency of the Duchy of Brunswick. It is stated that three of the council voted negatively.

Mr. Phelps' Banquet.
 LONDON, July 6.—The Duke of Argyll, Mr. John Bright and Mr. W. E. Forster have accepted invitations to attend a banquet soon to be given by United States Minister Phelps.

Order of the Bath.
 LONDON, July 6.—The queen has conferred upon Sir Peter Lunsden the grand cross of the order of the Bath.

FINE SURGERY.
 Replacing the Dislocated Neck of John Fitzgerald.

HARTFORD, July 6.—John Fitzgerald, the superintendent of the warp mill in Rockville, was struck by a falling bale of cotton some days ago, and his neck was dislocated. It was thought he would die, but Dr. Storrs, of this city, was called in. He found the man paralyzed below the head, which could not be used. He decided to attempt to reduce the dislocation and for that purpose etherized the patient. Two men held his feet and one his head. Dr. Storrs placed his hand near the patient's chin and a pull brought the dislocated vertebra into place with a snap that could be heard all over the room. Fitzgerald could move his head after the operation. His neck was built up with heavy bandages and he was kept in them for some time. His life hangs on the condition of the spinal cord, which is enclosed in the spine. The dislocation pushed one joint by the other, and the great question is whether the enclosed cord was cut off or so bruised as to become useless.

The case is one of extreme rarity and is of the greatest interest to surgeons all over the country.

DELUGE IN KANSAS.

Water Overflowing Towns and Devastating Crops and Property.

NEOSHO FALL, Kan., July 6.—The Neosho river has risen steadily for the past twenty-four hours, and is still rising. It now flows in a steady stream through Main street. All of the east part of the city is under water. In the low lands the crops are all gone and most of the stock drowned. So far as known no lives are lost, although many families have been driven to the second stories of their dwellings, and the floors of business houses on Main street are covered from one to five inches. The water is about twenty inches in Main street, in front of the postoffice. All dwellings in the northeast quarter of the city moved out during the night.

The firing of guns, ringing of bells, etc., have been heard up the river, and fears are entertained for the safety of some families.

DEED OF A FIEELD.

A Brutal Husband Blows His Wife and Her.

CAMDEN, N. J., July 6.—A horrible case of cruelty has come to light in the Eighth ward of this city. The victim is a young milaeto woman named Ida Damond. Mrs. Damond's story is that one Thursday night, June 25, because she refused to tell him something, her husband, Thos. Damond, a burly black negro, bound her hand and foot and left her lying all night on the floor. The next night he again bound her, and on Saturday morning turned her with a flat iron, poured a bottle of vitriol over her and fled from the house. Mrs. Damond was not found until 5 o'clock that afternoon. She was subsequently taken to her sister's house in Philadelphia and is now in a critical condition. Her husband cannot be found.

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—Mayor Smith has signed the two ordinances granting to the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company the privilege of entering and passing through the city. Work on the new road will be commenced immediately.

TEST YOUR BAKING POWDER TO-DAY!
